

Melbourne in tune

It's not a chart-topper, but a specially commissioned song to celebrate Melbourne's 175th anniversary is getting plenty of airplay in schools. Kensington Primary School's grade 1 and 2 students were practising their dance moves to go with the song last week. They will perform with students from other city schools on Melbourne Day next Monday. Special discounts at the city's major attractions, a flag-raising ceremony, birthday cake and a discussion about Melbourne will mark the milestone during the weekend leading up to the day.